Dear Editor,

I, and other interested parties are preparing legal action for reparations and damages stemming from your publishing companies, staff and contracted personal original and ongoing criminal enterprise activities.

You have conspired, aided and abetted and profited from illegal actions.

In fact:

Your staff and publishing company had prior knowledge of the factual details associated with the articles and you belligerently and deliberately showed no absence of malice.

Your publishing company has engaged in an ongoing criminal enterprise visa-vis the electronic updating of sold advertisement for profit each time an internet search is performed by a member of the public, a business competitor or an organisation seeking information since 2009.

Your staff and publishing company has damaged several companies and persons by publishing false and misleading information while seeking profit and personal gain.

At this stage, we ask;

Do you and your staff and publishing company stand by the content you have published and profited from since 2009.

This notice and the attached documents, Roadships Reinstatement Documents, The ASIC GAMBIT, Chronology Document 1, Chronology Document 2 and the details associated with briefing your journalist in 2008, stand as evidence in chief (prima facie) for slated legal action on foot.

Sincerely

Micheal Nugent
